28 Worship Outline—Friday

Thursday Summary

Thursday at World Conference began with news about a different event: a peace forum planned October 16-18, 2026, in the Temple. There are “496 days until the Peace Forum,” Shandra Newcom said.

President Bunda Chibwe urged more contributions for the operation of World Conference. President Stassi Cramm thanked tech crews that keep things running in their headquarters under the rostrum. President Joel Shrock of Graceland University in Lamoni, Iowa, USA, shared a blessing before the afternoon session.

Reflecting the concern felt throughout the church regarding climate change, three climate-related measures were on the resolutions list.

G-5 Climate Emergency—Fossil Fuel Reduction

Discussion continued. The resolution was amended Wednesday, removing the urgency in the language. The resolution passed.

Among the concerns of those speaking for the resolution was that only the wealthy and entitled can protect themselves from the harsh results of fossil fuels’ effect on the planet. Working now toward ending the use of fossil fuels will mean a more orderly transition and more protection for the poor.

Shirley Alice Smith of Canada West Mission Centre said the matter was debated locally. Gas company scientists were present and said the alternatives to fossil fuels were “not necessarily the best.”

G-1 Increasing Access to Creative Works Copyrighted by Community of Christ

This resolution passed. It encourages World Church leaders and an appropriate committee to consider applying Creative Commons to copyrighted Community of Christ materials, making those materials more widely available.

G-4 Establishment of a Bylaw Committee to Review and Revise Community of Christ Bylaws with a Focus on Governance

G-4 passed. With the creation of nongeographic congregations online and on social media, increased use of technology to participate in World Conference and other events, plus other electronic changes and challenges, the resolution sought a report on needs and possibilities in this area with a focus on governance and bylaws review to be provided to the 2028 World Conference.

G-11a Climate Change Emergency Call to Action

Jim Ash from Central USA Mission Center and the World Conference Human Rights Team moved and spoke to the resolution. He cited rising planetwide temperatures and the resulting damage. He blamed fossil fuel use, deforestation, and overconsumption. Ash said more than 1 billion people worldwide could be displaced by climate change by 2050.

G-11a, which passed, seeks legitimate refugee status for people fleeing climate-induced dangers.

John Lee Ellis of the Heart of Texas USA Mission Center was opposed. Manmade climate change is a failed theory, Ellis said. He said cyclical, increasing decomposition of plants causes temperatures to rise. The church should focus on natural disasters, he said.

Stanislas Sangwa Kyungu of the Democratic Republic of the Congo supported the resolution. “When it comes to climate change, it is not only a necessity but a moral responsibility.”

Rick Bunch, leader of the Community of Christ Earth Stewardship Team, opposed the resolution, saying much is redundant of the team he leads and its materials. Tim Ross of the Michigan USA Mission Center opposed, saying the resolution is too politically specific.

G10 Earth Stewardship Affirmation

Rick Bunch, of Rocky Mountain USA Mission Center, explained the existing Earth Stewardship Team role. Currently, six study lessons on climate-change subjects are on file at HeraldHouse.org.

John-Charles Duffy of Western Ohio USA Mission Center agreed the resolution is “largely unneeded. The World Church Stewardship Team already can do this.”

Consideration of G-10 continues Friday.

Choose Hope— First Presidency Service

Stassi Cramm, First Presidency: What an incredible World Conference experience we've shared so far!

I don't know about you, but I have felt an undeniable outpouring of God's presence—moving through worship, conversation, legislation, and those unexpected moments of grace.

The Holy Spirit is alive among us.

And yet, as we gather in this powerful moment, we do so with full awareness that the past several years have been profoundly difficult.

We carry with us the wounds from those challenges—grief, uncertainty, and the lingering effects of hard decisions.

There is still healing to be done within the body of Christ.

But friends, what brings us to this moment...is not chance.

We are here because of the intricate weaving of a divine story—God's story—a story that stretches across generations.

Ours is a journey threaded into the great tapestry of God's work through time. We are connected to the disciples who walked before us.

Just as they faced storms of doubt, persecution, and loss...so too have we navigated seasons that have tested our faith.

Since the 2023 World Conference, we've been walking through weighty realities.

We've shouldered the responsibility of caring for those who gave their lives to ministry, as we met the church's retirement responsibilities—while also striving to ensure that Christ's mission can thrive into the future.

The decision to sell Nauvoo, Kirtland, and other treasured artifacts—was heartbreaking to make, and devastating to hear.

These places carry deep spiritual and historical meaning. Their sale created a deep sense of loss.

Even in the midst of heartache, we have witnessed signs of hope.

The sacrifices made were not simply losses or business transactions. They were investments.

Investments in the future. In faith. In mission. In the lives yet to be touched by Christ's peace.

Friends...we are part of something sacred and still unfolding.

Hope is not something we stumble upon. Hope is something we choose.

And our collective story reminds us: it is especially in the hardest times that choosing hope becomes an act of faith. An act of courage.

Just like the disciples who experienced spiritual renewal at Pentecost, we are being called: To let go of what is comfortable. To open our hearts to what God is doing anew.

This is a season of holy risk. A season of possibility—if we have the courage to trust where the Holy Spirit leads.

So tonight...let's return once more to the Pentecost story.

As we listen to the early church's response to the Holy Spirit and stories of our response today, may we open ourselves to new insight—into how we are being called to live, to serve, and to choose hope... as we step into the future together.

Janné Grover, First Presidency: Acts 2:43 opens with spiritual awakening and wonder: "A sense of awe came over everyone."

I invite you to close your eyes and imagine this community immersed in a Pentecost experience. When have you experienced a sense of awe this week? What is the Holy Spirit awakening in you? How is the Holy Spirit enlivening our community to new life and new possibilities? Open your eyes.

The Pentecost experience of the early church was a profound spiritual awakening and deep recognition of God's active presence. The invitation to spiritual awakening today enlivens us to new life in Christ and transforms how we see the world and how we engage in mission.

- We witness this spiritual awakening where ongoing discernment is a central leadership practice, awakening us to God's call and purpose, shaping vision, and guiding strategic mission plans;
- and wherever communities are creating organic networks that foster relationships, spiritual growth, and global connection.

Trusting what God is doing and what God will do, we must fan the flames wherever this spark is already igniting hope and enlivening new possibility.

Karin Peter, Senior President of Seventy: Acts 2:43b–44a: "God performed many wonders and signs through the apostles. All the believers were united..."

Richard James, President, Council of Twelve Apostles: The spiritual awakening of the early church led to action, calling believers into mission together. What wonders might God be working through us if we, too, choose to trust and step forward in faith?

A young woman and her family move to central Spain with a desire to do something to help her community. God was stirring her heart. It was a spiritual awakening.

This time last year Apostle Carlos Mejia and I, along with others, met with Karina in her home. We listened to her story, felt her passion, and heard of her desires to serve. In that moment we said to her, "How do we make this happen?"

With God's help and her initiative, she began with her immediate family and swiftly expanded to include

12 individuals. Then due to economic challenges and seasonal employment difficulties in February this year, finding work was problematic for the community. Consequently, with support from the mission center, we commenced providing regular meals to the community. One year later, this community had grown to 50 people, with eight confirmed members and additional baptisms planned in the upcoming months.

Hope is here! It is real for them and for us. See what has happened in one year. It shows what is possible when we trust and step forward in faith.

What will the Spirit awaken in us as we move forward in faith and confidence?

Karin Peter: Where will the Spirit lead?

It leads an individual to invite others to a spontaneous walking group. They walk, listen, and share their spiritual journeys.

It leads a family to invite other families into their home for scripture study, snacks, and conversation.

The Spirit leads young adults into new forms of ministry, incorporating technical skills, social media savvy, and a deep desire to experience authentic community.

It leads a retiree into neighborhood pastoral ministry, checking on neighbors, helping with difficult tasks and weekly chores, to listen, mourn, gather, and celebrate with them.

The Spirit leads a congregation to connect their financial resources with another congregation's people resources, partnering in new, shared mission opportunities.

It leads a mission center to make climate justice their mission focus, for leadership training, adult education, and their children's vacation church school.

All these expressions are ways in which the Spirit is propelling us into new expressions of community, engaged in the mission of Christ.

Where is the Spirit leading you?

Bunda Chibwe, First Presidency: Acts 2:44b: "[All the believers] shared everything."

Step into the living Spirit of Acts 2:44—not just as a memory of the early church, but as a call for us here and now.

I'm especially inspired by African theological voices that deepen my understanding of this scripture. They remind us: life in the Spirit is always life together.

First, Archbishop Desmond Tutu teaches that our humanity is intertwined. The early believers did not see others as "them," but as "us." They shared their possessions—and their lives—because their hearts were united.

Second, African communalism affirms this truth. As one African theologian wrote, "The individual does not and cannot exist alone."

Third, the Holy Spirit moves us toward radical generosity. One African Liberation theologian says, "The Holy Spirit breaks the chains of inequality." Acts 2:44 is not just about sharing—it's about resisting the forces that divide us and proclaiming a new, just order shaped by the Holy Spirit.

Finally, the African ethic of "pulling together" calls us into collective action—living faith through solidarity, mutual care, and hope.

I've witnessed this Spirit in African congregations during funerals, weddings, and the pandemic from those who live our Enduring Principle of Blessings of Community. This is the same Spirit that moved at Pentecost—and it's still moving, calling us beyond individualism into true community.

Through scriptures like "in the welfare of others resides our welfare," Spirit-led generosity, and the ethic of pulling together, African voices powerfully echo how the early Christians lived: "We are called not just to believe together, but to live together, share together, and be bound together in love."

May the Holy Spirit keep pulling us together—until "all who believe" are truly one, and all things are shared for the glory of God.

Ron Harmon, Presiding Bishop: Acts 2:45: "They would sell pieces of property and possessions and distribute the proceeds to everyone who needed them."

I have always been deeply moved by the account in Acts 2 of the birth of the early church. This powerful example of radical generosity inspired the early saints in Kirtland as they gathered together, sharing all things for the common good. Even in the face of hardship and struggle, their conviction only deepened as they sought to embody divine love in tangible ways within sacred community.

The saints in Kirtland lived into God's creative abundance—not an abundance that kept them from hard times, but one that gave them spiritual strength and helped them find “just enough” when the way forward was unclear. They broke bread together, prayed together, supported each other, and cared for one another’s needs as if they were their own.

Simplicity became the spiritual discipline that opened them to divine grace and made them more receptive to God’s abundant presence. It gave them the freedom to let go of the pull of everyday culture and focus on what truly mattered most for the blessing of all.

This spirit of generosity and abundance is deeply rooted in scripture—from the creation story to the Exodus wilderness, through the Levitical practice of Jubilee to the life and ministry of Jesus, that lead to a small, bold movement at the edges of the empire that dared to call Jesus, Lord. It’s a persistent message that still calls to us today: to bring good news to the poor, to set people free, and to lift the oppressed.

Since the 2023 World Conference, Carla, Wim, and I have sensed the Spirit nudging us toward a renewed focus: a deeper understanding and bold practice of generosity as a prophetic response to the growing mindset of scarcity in the world today.

The generosity of the early believers was real, bold, and visible. It reflected their deep trust in God’s creative abundance and their desire to offer their lives for the sake of the gospel. Their care for one another became their witness, and Acts tell us that the Lord added to their numbers daily.

So how will we embrace God’s generosity and creative abundance to counteract the fear of scarcity, threatening to divide us as a global family?

As we give our World Mission Tithes today, we join in supporting the sacred work of this World Conference—a gathering where we discern, worship, fellowship, and choose a future of hope. You can give in the offering plate, online at CofChrist.org/give, or by using the QR codes on the screen that link to online giving options. God’s creative abundance flows freely through all creation. When we share faithfully and generously, God’s love and compassion continue to grow without end.

Janné Grover: Acts 2:46: “Every day, they met together in the temple and ate in their homes. They shared food with gladness and simplicity.”

Temple ministry, table fellowship, nurturing body and spirit with joy and simplicity—what a wonderful blueprint for discipleship in sacred community! The Temple is more than a building or a destination; it is a living instrument of revelation, calling us to deeper reverence and connection with God. Through this instrument of revelation and the ministries flowing into the world like streams of living water, we are invited into transformative encounters with the Divine.

- Encounters that heal and reconcile as we sit together at sacramental tables and choose to live sacramentally, committed to the restoring of a broken and beautiful world longing to be made whole.
- Encounters that strengthen faith and knowledge as we allow ourselves to be formed by the Holy Spirit through our bold witness and courageous work of oneness in Christ.
- Encounters that propel us forward in Christ’s mission (Adapted from Doctrine and Covenants 163:8 a).

Joelle Wight, Director of Temple Ministries:

Earlier this year, I had the privilege of teaching a pre-baptismal lesson to a group of kids here at the Temple. The evening’s topic was Christ’s Mission—Our Mission. We talked about what Christ came to do: bring good news to the poor, release the captives, give sight to the blind, free the oppressed, and proclaim God’s favor.

We explored how we’re invited into that mission—by seeing the world as it is, dreaming of how it could be, and taking action that moves us closer to God’s preferred future.

As our evening neared its end, we walked together to the Mission Prayer hallway, where the prayer is displayed in many languages. We paused in that sacred space, surrounded by evidence of diversity and call, and remembered: Christ’s mission takes all of us, out in the world, participating in God’s good purposes.

This, my friends, is what it means to be a people of the Temple—it isn’t about gathering in a specific place, it’s about living what this symbol represents in our daily lives. It means embodying hope, compassion, and justice in our own contexts, trusting that God’s preferred future is possible when we are willing to respond.

In the next three years, the Temple will be at the heart of:

- The Community of Christ Peace Forum, amplifying our role as peacemakers.
- The International Youth Forum, forming a new generation of disciples. And...
- The 2028 World Conference, shaping our future together.

The Temple will also be a source for...

- Expanding hybrid and in-person ministries, and
- Providing multilingual resources that reflect our global diversity.

We are being called into bold innovation and sacred risk, trusting that God is still revealing new pathways forward. May we respond courageously and live as Temple people embodying Christ's peace wherever we may be.

Bunda Chibwe: Acts 2:47: "They praised God and demonstrated God's goodness to everyone. The Lord added daily to the community those who were being saved."

We are called to be a living Church. In Africa, at Zamtan, Jerusalem, Boma, Masina, and Abak congregations, we've witnessed that when worship becomes a lifestyle, faith is lived out loud, and community is rooted in love, the Holy Spirit moves powerfully. The early church praised God, lived faithfully, and shared God's goodness openly. They did not chase numbers—they lived the gospel. And God added daily to their number in the same way these African's congregations experience numerical and spiritual growth daily.

It is my strong testimony that our churches grow when our lives preach louder than our words—when kindness, joy, and justice are visible. Faith isn't private; it's public, embodied in how we welcome, serve, and love.

Stassi Cramm: Acts 2 paints a picture of a Spirit-filled community marked by awe, generosity, unity, and joyful fellowship.

The early believers didn't just worship together, they shared their lives.

They met daily, supported one another materially, and lived with open hands and open hearts. Their faith was visible, practical, and contagious.

This passage reminds us that sharing Christ's peace is more than speaking words—it's about creating communities where all can belong, where needs are met, and where God's goodness is demonstrated through our actions.

It's the same peace that descended like fire at Pentecost. The same peace that strengthened Paul in prison. The same peace that has carried us through difficult decisions and transitions.

God invites us to open our hearts to Christ's peace—To trust that, even in the midst of change, we are being guided by the continued revelation of divine purpose.

Friends, we are pioneers in uncharted territory. We're living in a world that looks and feels different than it did even two years ago.

And yes, that can feel unsettling. But who doesn't love a good adventure?

This is not a time for fear, it's a time for faith. A time to take the next faithful step—together—even when the path is unclear.

The Psalmist reminds us that, God's word is a lamp for our feet and a light for our path (Psalm 119:105, paraphrased).

Not a spotlight on the whole journey—just a sacred light to guide our next faithful step. And that light has brought us to this place.

Look around. Community of Christ is a diverse people living and serving in many different countries, contexts, and cultures.

We could allow our differences to divide us.

But we are first called to be citizens of a new community. Paul referred to it as our citizenship in heaven, part of the body of Christ, and members of the household of God. We have also called it—Zion, God's peaceable kingdom, the reign of God, communities of joy, hope, love, and peace—to name a few. We struggle to find words to capture the essence of what it means to be connected with others in the way God has always intended us to live.

That identity comes before nationality, culture, politics, or local tradition. It roots us in the peace of Christ. And it calls us to a deeper way of being. So what does it mean to be a citizen of this new community?

Doctrine and Covenants 163:8c gives us this vision: The entire church is to become a sanctuary of Christ's peace, a spiritual home for people of all nations, ethnicities, and life circumstances. This is our sacred calling—to break down walls of division and embody God's radical hospitality.

That vision is compelling because it reminds that as we contextualize Christ's mission, it is not about allowing the culture to shape who we are. Rather, it is about allowing who we are to signal a new way of being to the cultures where we live and serve.

Doctrine and Covenants 164:5 speaks to our citizenship reminding us that being baptized into Christ, makes us part of a new creation. "...Through the gospel of Christ, a new community of tolerance, reconciliation, unity in diversity, and love is being born as a visible sign of the coming reign of God."

From our story as a Restoration movement, and from the broader story of faith—we know this path has never been easy.

But faith and the stories we've heard tonight remind us: Nothing is impossible when we follow God who lights the way.

Like Jesus we must pray, "May your kingdom come. May your will be done on earth as it is in heaven" (Matthew 6:10, NSRVue).

We may not end up where we thought we were headed. We may have to let go of things we once held dear.

And yes—perhaps most frightening of all—we may be called to grow in ways that change us completely.

But that is the path of discipleship. That is the call of a prophetic people.

Let's be honest about where we are: We are not yet what God needs us to be. But we are moving in the right direction.

We heard examples of how we are learning to live our Enduring Principles and growing in making them a way of life:

- A life of generosity, grace, peace, and sacred community.
- A life that embraces risk, vulnerability, and deep trust.

We are learning to go deeper in creating God's kingdom on earth as it is in heaven as we live God's will.

Everyone matters. Everyone is needed to write this next chapter of our collective story.

So rather than worry, "What if we get it wrong?" let's dare to live in the hope of "What if we get it right?"

Let's step out trusting that God is already working among us.

From the continuous discernment of the leadership council, we offer these five steps to guide us—not as a map but as principles for pioneers of uncharted territory:

1. First, discern continuously what matters most.
2. Second, focus our resources on mission, leadership, and faithful stewardship by
  - a. Developing spiritually grounded, prophetically bold leaders, and
  - b. Responding with courage rooted in hope to global challenges such as the ones we are considering this week.
3. Third, nurture local expressions of a global movement through Spirit-led, organic networks.
4. Fourth, expand the sacred ministries of the Temple as a beacon of peace for all.
5. Fifth, hold ourselves accountable to faithfully reflect, evaluate, and respond as God leads.

This moment—our moment—is part of something far greater than ourselves. It's an invitation to move onward in faith: to honor the legacy of those who came before, to live as bearers of Christ's peace, to choose hope.

So let us lean into the vision of a sacred community—Where all are welcome.

Where every person—regardless of gender, orientation, background, or circumstance—is invited to choose hope as part of a new community.

A world where, in the words of the hymn we will hear in a moment: "For everyone born, a place at the table."

Let that be the hope we choose.

Ordination Prayers

Ordination of Adam R. Wade to Apostle by Lach Mackay and Mareva Arnaud Tchong

God of past, present, and future,

It is with joyous hearts that we place our hands on the head of your servant, Adam Wade, to ordain him as a high priest, to serve as an apostle of Christ's peace, and a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles.

With deep roots and a rich heritage in the church, Adam has spent more than 20 years preparing for this sacred calling. He has faithfully served as a youth minister, pastor, mission centre president, seventy, and president of seventy. May his years of experience be a gift to those he will serve in the Asia Pacific and Haiti Field. And may his antipodal wisdom be a blessing to the world as he shares with his colleagues on the Council of Twelve.

It is our prayer, oh God, that you will always be by Adam's side guiding him through times of strength and weakness alike.

Let his passion for the Good News burn brightly, never dimming, as he challenges us to be the hands and feet of Jesus in new places and in new ways.

May your Holy Spirit rest upon Adam, empowering him to connect with those outside the walls of the church. Like a lone bird calling out in the night, may his voice pierce the darkness reaching the lost, the hurting, the lonely, and those who feel unloved. May he reach those who dwell on the fringes of our societies. May they find through him, as a special witness of the Christ, the peace of Jesus, in whose name we pray, Amen.

Ordination of Carrie L. Welch to Apostle by Shandra Newcom and David Nii

God of Invitation and Love,

What a blessing we are receiving in this moment of connection and calling. We are here to express our gratitude for Carrie and her life of service, and to express our hope and belief that all that has happened in her ministry and life's journey has prepared her for this moment of call and calling.

We recognize, Creator, Carrie's heart of laughter that brings joy to these who hear it. We say thank you for her dedication to her family—Kas, Jayne, Donald, and all those that surround and love her—that will serve her well as she seeks to create community in all places and spaces. We celebrate her intelligence that will be a gift as she navigates decisions and challenges before her and before Community of Christ. And we are deeply grateful for her heart that loves us all and that sees a call to action towards peace and justice, as being the way toward God's kingdom.

Carrie, as Dave and I are here, hands placed on your head, we give thanks for your life, and we ordain you to the office of Apostle in Community of Christ, to serve as an Apostle of Christ's peace and member of the Council of Twelve Apostles. In this community, with colleagues who share your passion for peace, you are called to live with wisdom, compassion, and a dream for who we are called to be and how we will make a difference in the world as we live the mission of Christ. And we trust that you will answer this call with grace and joy.

We will hold you in our hearts, support you as together we work for the peace you hold dear, love you even in the times that are challenging, and pray for you with a fullness of soul that transcends all of this—that calls us to God's beyond.

And so, creating God, may Carrie's heart be your heart and her hands be your hands. May the pieces of her life and yours, create a quilt of belonging for all your children. May she, stitch after stitch, build hope in this world that desperately needs it. May each square, lovingly tended by her creative heart, be a piece of your dream for the future. And may we wrap ourselves in its warmth as we walk alongside Carrie in all of the imagining she will imagine—in all of the dreaming she will dream—in all of the action she will take.

Carrie, as an Apostle of Christ's peace, may your heart create the quilt of love that will, day by day, piece by piece, bring all of God's beloveds into Their gentle embrace.

We pray this prayer, God, trusting in your wild love and creative promises,
Amen.

Ordination of Joey S. Williams to Apostle by Bunda Chibwe and Richard James

God of love and peace,

You who call, consecrate, and send forth, we gather with gratitude and humility before You in this Temple dedicated to the pursuit of peace, reconciliation, and healing of the spirit, to honor the call You have placed upon Your servant, Joseph Shane Williams.

Today, Apostle Richard James and I gently and tenderly place our hands upon his head to ordain him as a high priest, minister of vision, apostle of the peace of Jesus Christ, and member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles in the Community of Christ.

You have shaped him from his early years, guided him through the seasons of life, and awakened in him a deep desire to serve you faithfully.

Lord, we do not ask you to remove challenges and trials from his ministerial path, for we know such a prayer would be neither realistic nor faithful to the call of apostolic ministry. But we fervently pray: Lighten his burden, sustain his spirit, and surround him with your grace, so that his ministry may be carried by your strength and nourished by your hope and love.

We recognize Joey's ministerial gifts and his gift for languages: he is a polyglot among us, a man who can speak many languages with ease, and we are confident that with this new ministry he is embracing, he will be able to speak many African languages. For this, we give thanks to you, Lord. It will be a gift for his ministry that will help him to be a minister who can communicate with everyone without difficulty.

Grant Joseph Shane Williams the spirit of wisdom and discernment, fill him with patience, courage, and compassion, and may he walk in humility as a witness to the risen Christ.

May he become a messenger of reconciliation, a builder of bridges, an extraordinary innovator that he has always been all his life, a sower of hope in places of pain and division. We pray for his family, especially his mother here with us, a woman filled with integrity and that is ready to do everything she can for her beloved son, for her steadfast faith in her son who has become the son she had always dreamed about. I pray for his brother and his sister for their remarkable support, and their trust in the work you are doing through him.

May they remain a rock on which he can always lean. Lord, strengthen his calling, sanctify his commitment, and make him a living instrument of your kingdom, for the glory of your name and the well-being of your people.

In the name of Jesus Christ, our friend and example, we pray. Amen.

Ordination of Matthew J. Frizzell to Apostle by Angela Ramírez de Hernández and Carlos Enrique Mejía

Dear brother Matthew, it is with gratitude that Apostle Carlos Enrique Mejía and I, as members of the Council of Twelve, lay our hands upon your head to ordain you to the office of Apostle and as a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles in Community of Christ.

You offer unique gifts and talents, which will not only enrich a particular region of this sacred community but will expand around the world, bringing hope to those you are called to serve.

As a witness of the peace of Christ, it will be a good time for you to continue raising your voice on behalf of the most vulnerable, advocating for the right of those without to live in a more just society. May this voice that proclaims peace continue to be accompanied by much wisdom and patience to await God's perfect timing, for He will guide you every moment of your life.

Oh, God of grace, we ask that you provide sufficient knowledge for this, your beloved son, to continue sowing peace, hope and love to many people wherever he is called to serve and beyond.

May your Holy Spirit guide his every step like a lit torch throughout his life's journey. May nothing separate him from that immense love which you have placed in his heart and which has overflowed for the benefit of all who draw near to him.

May any adversities that arise be faced with courage and, above all, by holding fast to the passion he has for this sacred community.

We pray for his family, that each member may be a steadfast support for this, your son Matthew. We also raise our voice so that his walk and actions remain aligned with the peaceful reign of Jesus as he travels along this path we call life.

May he, when difficult moments arise in his ministry, cling with all his strength and cry out to the God of justice and hope who is always ready to hear his voice.

This is our prayer in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Ordination of Kathleen E. Hnatyshyn to Apostle by Janné Grover and Catherine Mambwe

God of calling, hope, and holy possibility...

My Sister Catherine and I stand in a spirit of gratitude and extend hands of blessing to ordain our sister, Kat Hnatyshyn, as an apostle of Christ's peace, to serve as a member of the Council of Twelve Apostles in Community of Christ.

Our gratitude is rooted in your love for all creation and the realization that even in the limitations of our human frailty, you choose to need us, to call us, and to equip us to bring forth your purposes. And so, you have called your beloved, our beloved sister Kat, not to be someone she is not, but as invitation to align her whole self into a full expression of who you created her to be.

Our gratitude grows as we consider the heritage of family and faith that leads to her sacred "Yes" in response to this call. We are grateful to all who have seen and nurtured and empowered her giftedness and for the gifts and skills she has recognized and developed. We hold in gratitude her beloved family—Alex, Jack, and Pete—for their love and support that strengthen Kat and allow her to serve in this new journey of leadership.

Bless Kat with the assurance of your guiding presence and the assurance of her enoughness. Bless her with holy disruption to see beyond the limits of perceived capacity with openness to what you are forming in and through her. Embolden her with courage in her apostolic witness to stand for justice and work for peace; and guide her in discerning wisdom and nurturing compassion as a spiritual leader who honors the worth, circumstances, and perspectives of all.

In humility and gratitude this ordination prayer is offered in the name of Christ Jesus, who is our peace, whose mission is our mission. Amen.

Ordination of Shannon J. McAdam to Apostle by Art Smith and Robin Linkhart

God of compassionate community,

With deep reverence, trembling joy, and hands, we ordain our friend Shannon McAdam as high priest, apostle, and member of the Council of Twelve Apostles for Community of Christ.

May touch represent your presence, reminding Shannon of many touches past by your Holy Spirit—marvelous and minuscule. May dreams, hopes, visions, and prophetic imagination now stirring in Shannon be a glimpse beyond the horizon of what might become as you and Shannon lean into each other and live out this sacred invitation.

Thank you for Shannon's unwavering passion for justice—tempered by maturity, now not weaker but stronger and clearer. Thank you for Shannon's curiosity, thoughtfulness, and artistic creativity.

The church is grateful for how she has been shaped, as if by waters, winds, and sands; by Apple and the corporate world; by theological mentors—Thank you Vancouver School of Theology; by her partner, Matthew; by her parents, Gary and Kathy; by her large extended family, faithful and daring grands and greats, coming all the way from Wales—wondering what might be—never, or maybe, imagining a night like this; by her sister; by jubilant Joy and devastating disappointment.

Now, O God, take this one—this prophetic, discerning, administratively gifted, spiritually attentive woman—and breathe into her a new apostolic fire. Not letting it consume her, but illuminate her path, and the paths she helps us find in these uncertain days. Strengthen her leadership—yes. Amplify her voice—yes. But also, protect her spirit. Let her know again and again that she does not lead alone.

That this call is not proof of perfection, but confirmation that you delight in her exactly as she is—passionate, tender, brave, wounded, and wise.

May others hurt by church see in her someone who stayed—leading, becoming fluent in the language of belonging.

Let her carry your peace not only in strategy, but in her presence.

Shannon, you are called. Not by accident. Not in error. But in love. And we will walk with you.

In the name of Jesus Christ, the one who touches, loves, and stays, Amen.

C-1 Credential Report

To the World Conference:

The Credentials Committee has received the appropriate administrative officers' lists of people who were certified to serve as elected delegates or leadership in the World Conference under terms established in Article IV of the bylaws. Delegates were allocated to each mission center under the terms of Article IV, and the list of World Church Officers who are members of the Conference was received.

In addition, some lists contain the names of delegates who have been appointed to represent jurisdictions that do not hold conferences in which delegates can be elected. These delegates were selected by mission center councils under the terms of the bylaws, or in rare circumstances, by the mission center president under the direction of the field apostle.

As in the past, the First Presidency has provided Graceland University representation. Therefore, the Graceland University Congregation has been allocated nine delegates. In addition, three delegates have been allocated to the First People/All Nations Community of Christ Congregation, and two delegates have been allocated to Military Chaplains. If the standing rule regarding proportional representation is approved, the weighting ratio for each mission center will be based on the authorized number of delegates listed in the report.

The committee recommends the following people be seated and recognized as proper participants in the Conference, with voice and vote in all deliberations.

Educational Resources for Common Consent

If you would like to learn more about the principles behind the Common Consent process, here are a couple of resources. Graceland Seminary's Center for Innovation in Mission and Ministry (CIMM) has two videos that describe how the process works. The videos can be found at:

www.youtube.com/@cofcseminaryatgu/videos, then search Deciding Together.

Those videos also give you access to a free written resource for leaders who want to try using this process in their local jurisdiction.

Young Adult Closing Worship

Let's wrap up the week together today from 5:30-6:30 p.m. in the Temple Meditation Chapel.

Plant Sale

Bring your receipt to the South foyer of the Auditorium and pick up your purchases on Friday after the closing worship.

Offering QR Code

There are no envelopes for this conference. All offerings received during Conference worship services go to support the Conference Budget.

World Conference Offering and Registration Update

As of Wednesday, 4 June 2025

Offering Budget: $275,000
(Special Offering and Conference offerings)
Offering Received: $205,024
Offering Needed: $69,976

Registration Budget: $326,572
Registration Received: $379,391
Registration Net Income $52,819

Conference Income Still Needed: $17,155
Total Registrations: 2,089

We invite the Conference to share generously from its true capacity to meet the remainder of the Conference income goal. All income received that exceeds the Conference Budget will overflow into Worldwide Mission Tithes, blessing the mission of the church.

Participant Survey

Please take a few minutes to complete the 2025 World Conference evaluation. Your thoughts and ideas are important as we look to the future for planning the next Conference. Your responses help us design new ways and improve on World Conference experiences. This survey will be sent via email to you following World Conference.
